Management's Discussion of Fund Performance

SUMMARY OF RESULTS

Over the trailing one-year, the Ambrus Core Bond Fund returned 4.71% versus its index, the Bloomberg Intermediate Government/Credit Bond Index, which returned 4.01%, for outperformance of 0.70%. Outperformance was driven by positive attribution effects across asset allocation and security selection, with yield curve positioning detracting from performance.

TOP CONTRIBUTORS TO PERFORMANCE

- An overweight to corporate credit contributed positively to performance, as investment-grade credit spreads compressed from +129 basis points to +114 basis points over the reporting period
- The Fund benefited from active management between asset classes, as the Fund’s exposure to corporates and preferreds increased from a low of 43.5% in February 2025 to a high of 60.9% in June 2025 to take advantage of the distress in credit markets
- Security selection within corporate bonds contributed positively to performance, as the corporate bonds held by the Fund outperformed those held by the benchmark

TOP DETRACTORS TO PERFORMANCE

- Yield curve positioning detracted from performance, as the Fund was underweight (relative to the benchmark) shorter maturity government bonds and overweight longer maturity government bonds
- During the reporting period, shorter maturity government bond yields declined, while longer maturity government bond yields increased

Fund Performance

The following is a comparison of the change in value of a $10,000 investment in Ambrus Core Bond Fund's Institutional Class vs. the Bloomberg U.S. Aggregate Bond Index and the Bloomberg Intermediate U.S. Government/Credit Bond Index.

GROWTH OF $10,000

For the period September 6, 2022* through September 30, 2025

Average Annual Total Returns	1 Year	Since inception
